

Mr. Scott D. Miller
CEO, Six Sigma Academy

Mr. Miller currently serves as the CEO of the Six Sigma Academy, a leading operational improvement consulting firm, and the G100 a private forum for the CEO's of leading public companies and private equity firms. Each of these companies is privately held.

Previously, Mr. Miller served as the President and Vice Chairman of the Hyatt Hotels and Resorts Corporation, and prior to that as CEO of United Infrastructure Company a company owned by Peter Kiewit and Sons, and Bechtel Enterprises dedicated to infrastructure acquisition, development and operation. His early career was as a founding partner of The John Buck Company a Chicago based real estate brokerage, management, and development company.

Mr. Miller serves on the boards of public companies AXA Equitable, Inc. and NAVTEQ Inc., as well as several private companies. Additionally, he is a member of the boards of the Aspen Community Foundation, the Kravis Leadership Institute and JAS Aspen.

Mr. Miller is a graduate of Stanford University and the University of Chicago Business School. He has three children and is a resident of Old Snowmass, Colorado.